Objective

I'm an MA student of Political Science, have been preparing for UPSC CSE (IAS) for the past 4 years. As an IAS aspirant, I have garnered knowledge of the various subjects from different fields such as economics, internal security, international relation, geography, history, polity, ethics and risk management. Although, subjects are not limited to these. I have good acumen to look at data and draw insights from them. I'm good at finding the pattern and correlation between these data and enjoy working with them. Since I lacked technical skills, I decided to acquire some professional skills in this field. I want to work on data using proper tools and technical knowledge, to utilize my skill in an optimized way. Since I lack any technical educational background, I think an independent professional course is the best way to fulfill my dream of working with data as a data scientist role.
